All-Ways Accessible, Inc. installs Patient Lifts at the V.A. Medical Center in White River Junction, Vermont.

The V.A. Medical Center in White River Junction VT, has decided to institute a zero lift policy. This means transfer techniques and equipment will be used to move patients. This move comes as a result of statistics revealing the number of back injuries sustained by healthcare workers transferring patients. AWA was contracted to install 41 SUREHANDS® Lift & Care Systems in the patient areas. After months of engineering and design work, the systems went in smoothly and without incident. Much of this was due to the diligence and oversight of our install team, Dave Olson and Mike Catudal. Jeff Lavoie has been doing all the medical staff training and has received very enthusiastic feedback from all the departments involved.

The staff at the VA receive an in service on how to use the new equipment!
